'Senior Games' planned in Clark, Floyd Counties

By LISA STARK
Evening News Staff Writer

After meeting last week, the newly-formed commission of the Senior Games of Indiana got a lot of basic questions answered.

Senior Games, which will be offered throughout the state, will be held in both Clark and Floyd counties and mini-games in Scott and Harrison counties, said Thelma Bertrand, a member of the commission and of the local council.

Also, she said, they want to make the games mobile to get local nursing homes involved. This will be offered by the South Central Indiana Council for the Aging and Aged, Inc., which serves the four-county region.

Senior Games of Indiana is open for participation to men and women 55 or older who have passed a doctor's physical and who have signed up for the games. You may register by sending in a registration form. For more information about signing up, contact the South Central Indiana Council for the Aging and Aged, Inc., 134 E. Main St., New Albany, or by calling 948-9161.

The Senior Games of Indiana is being sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana and the individual area agencies on aging. Each area agency sets its own dates, time and place for the events.

The purpose of the games is to maintain and improve the health and wellness of Indiana's older adults. It will provide a competitive athletic and recreational experience for older adults, focus attention on the importance of regular exercises, and provide an opportunity for socialization.

The commission for the games has recommended to each agency a core of games and finalized rules for each sport. While it is the commission's intent to follow playing rules as established by the commission each individual area agency may make modifications or revisions that are in the best interest of entrants.

Participants are encouraged to enter as many events as possible. However, these games have not been selected as yet. A list has been made available of games being considered. The games selected will be determined by the greatest response by seniors. The list includes golf, miniature golf, bowling, tennis, 2-mile walk, swimming, dance contest, fishing, pool, horseshoes, archery, air gun, bridge, euchre, and checkers.

According to Bertrand, the commission wants to have a variety of core events to allow someone to advance to state competition. Qualifications for the U.S. National Senior Olympics will be in Indianapolis at the Indy Senior Classic Senior Games May 13-16.

The cost of entering the Senior Games of Indiana is set by each individual agency. For each event, a gold, silver and bronze medal will be awarded. Locally, there will be opening and closing ceremonies, said Bertrand. Also, she is trying to raise enough funds for T-shirts for each participant.

The Senior Games of Indiana is being organized by the Indiana Commission for Senior Games, which is working in a cooperative effort with representatives from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana and representatives from individual area agencies on aging. The commission is composed of 18 representatives. The commission sets the tone of the statewide games and recommends core events for each site.

A sum of $5,000 has been contributed by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana. However, other contributors are needed, said Bertrand.

Senior Games Will Make Its Debut In 1987

Hoosiers 55 years of age and older are eligible to participate in the first-ever Indiana Senior Games later this year, according to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana and the Indiana Area Agencies on Aging, co-sponsors of the Games.

Each of the state's 16 Area Agencies will conduct Seniors Games this year, with competition at most sites to include archery, bowling, cycling, golf, horse shoes, swimming, table tennis, tennis, track and field, volleyball, billiards, shuffleboard, two-mile walk, football, softball and basketball throws.

Each Area Agency will set its own dates, times and places for their Games, and not every area will conduct competitions in each of the Games listed above, but will modify that list in the best interests of the entrants, says Alfred G. Marino, a Blue Cross and Blue Shield senior vice president.

"The Games promote wellness and sensible physical activity," Marino said. "Taking care of oneself and exercising regularly can result in longer, healthier and happier lives. We hope the Senior Games of Indiana contribute to that."

To participate, senior citizens must have passed a doctor's physical examination and must register with their local area agency. Participants are encouraged to enter as many events as they wish. Each Area Agency will set entrance fees for participants.

The Senior Games will also include competition for nursing home residents in some areas. These Games would include wheelchair races and checkers, among others.

"We are trying to provide the motivation and opportunity for as many senior Hoosiers as possible to participate in events which will contribute to their positive physical, mental and social well-being," said Marino. "By making this an annual event, we think that the Senior Games will help focus attention on the importance of regular exercise."

The Senior Games has been organized by an 18-member Commission. Members are Thelma Bertrand, South Central Indiana Council for the Aging and Aged, Inc., New Albany; Susan Austill, Department of Parks and Recreation, Indianapolis; George Brown, Area 12 Council on Aging, Dillsboro; Joe Brubaker, Area 6 Council on Aging, Muncie; Kathy Cameron, Area 10 Council on Aging, Bloomington; Pam Croucher, Area 11 Agency on Aging, Columbus; Dr. Dale Harris, Indiana Retired Teachers Association, Indianapolis; and Jean Inman, Area 7 Agency on Aging, Terre Haute.

For further information about local scheduling, entrance fees, and a list of games, contact Thelma Bertrand, New Albany, (812-948-8330) --or Charles F. Miller, News Media Consultant (317-263-4618).

Registration Now Open For Senior Games

With sponsorship from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana, the Senior Games of Indiana is a reality.

The state has been divided into regions with each region having a commissioner. Each region selects the kind of games that will be held.

Thelma Bertrand is the commissioner for the games in Region 14. Events scheduled will be held in both Clark and Floyd counties. The opening ceremonies will take place at the Overlook on Riverside Drive in Jeffersonville with the Closing and Awards ceremonies set for the Grand Convention Center in New Albany.

Each entrant must be 55 years of age or older. Events chosen for Region 14 are Fun Walk, 1-Mile Walk, 2-Mile Walk, Bridge, Euchre, Checkers, Golf, Fishing, Bowling, Horseshoes, and Swimming.

The Games are set for June 10, 11 and 12 with the majority of events slated for the first two days. Only the swimming and closing ceremonies are on tap for the final day.

There's a registration fee of $3 which entitles the entrant to enter all events and receive a free lunch at the closing ceremonies. A free T-shirt will also be given to all participants on a first-come, first-serve basis as long as the supply holds out. In addition, gold, silver and bronze medallions will be awarded in each event.

S-E-N-I-O-R GAMES OF INDIANA

The Opening Cermonies will include releasing 1,000 balloons, plus the Fun Walk down Spring Street in Jeffersonville. A torch-bearer, color guard and and band will lead the walk. Mayors Dale Orem (Jeffersonville) and Charles Hunter (New Albany) will award ribbons to all of the Fun Walk participants.

All of those who have signed up for at least one event are invited to eat lunch at Clark Arms Park. The Opening Ceremonies will begin at 10:30 a.m., preceded at 10 a.m. by the Fun Walk.

Registration must be made in advance. Deadline for entering is May 22. Interested individuals may call 948-8330 for additional information or stop by the office of the South Central Indiana Council for the Aging and Aged, 134 E. Main St., New Albany for a registration blank.

The Council is sponsoring the games in conjunction with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana.

The following is a list and time of events:

Senior Games Is A Winning Idea

One of the good things about America today is that each day we realize the value, worth and abilities of our senior citizens. They are not tired, worn out pieces of flesh that are to be placed on a shelf somewhere to spend their final days.

Senior citizens are often as bright, as agile and as competitive as many who are approaching or have reached middle-age.

To tap some of that agility and that competitive spirit that still burns bright in many, the Senior Games will be held throughout Indiana in June. The Senior Games consists of several events that participants can compete in for medals.

One of the regions holding the Senior Games is the Jeffersonville-New Albany area. Events like golf, fishing, bowling, one- and two-mile walks, horseshoes and swimming are on the schedule. And not to forget those who may not be as agile, but who want some competition, there will be table games like euchre, bridge and checkers.

A new wrinkle has just been added. Thelma Bertrand, who is the Games Commissioner for this region, said that a special division for nursing home residents is being established. Nursing homes in Floyd, Clark, Harrison and Scott counties will be invited to hold competition at their own sites among their own residents and send the top performers to a playoff at Jensen Hall (Providence Retirement Home). The nursing home events include basketball throw, bean bag toss, water pistol and horseshoes.

We hope and we feel the Senior Games will be a huge success. We have developed a lot of programs for the graying members of our community, but most of them deal with keeping them from being lonely or idle. This program will give many an outlet for their competitive spirit, which may have been put on hold for awhile.

We urge all those who are able to compete to do so. We think it would be very rewarding.

We heartily congratulate those behind this event, especially Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana for providing the necessary corporate funding. Locally, the South Central Indiana Council for the Aging and Aged is helping organize and run the event.

Two very important events during the three-day affair warrant your attention. The Opening Ceremonies will be on Wednesday, June 10 at 10:30 a.m. in Jeffersonville at the Overlook on Riverside Drive. On Friday, June 12, the Closing Ceremonies, which includes the awarding of the medals, will be held at the Grand Convention Center in New Albany beginning at 11 a.m.

Council for Aging plans meal, aide programs for homebound

By GREG OTOLSKI
Staff Writer

NEW ALBANY, Ind. — The South Central Indiana Council for the Aging & Aged Inc. expects to launch two programs in the next month for the homebound and those who take care of them.

The programs are a home-delivered meal service for homebound people under 60 and a home health-care program to help people who are taking care of the elderly at home.

Pat Jewell, executive director of the council, said a pilot program called Dial-A-Meal should start in Clark County in the next two weeks and will be expanded to Floyd, Harrison and Scott counties before the end of the year.

People under 60 who can't leave their homes can get a hot lunch delivered for $3 per meal Monday through Friday, Jewell said.

"We're already providing the service for four or five people, but the program won't officially begin for about another two weeks," Jewell said. "There is nothing in our area like this for people under 60. They have to make their own meals or arrange for someone to take care of it for them."

The Council for the Aging also has received $44,000 in federal grants and private donations to begin a Respite Care program on July 1.

Respite Care is designed to help those who are taking care of the elderly 24 hours a day.

"There are many people in our four-county area that have elderly parents or other relatives living with them and have to give them constant care and attention," Jewell said. "Respite Care will bring someone into their home to help them so they can go do errands or shopping or just get away for a while."

She said the council will contract with several home health-care agencies to send licensed home health aides into homes. She said the aides would do such things as give baths, prepare meals and dispense medication.

Jewell said the service will be free and a needs assessment will be done in each home to determine how many hours each week the help is needed.

Although the service is free, she said, the council hopes that those who can afford to pay some of the cost will.

"We only have $44,000, so we are going to have to be very frugal," Jewell said. "We have already been getting calls about the program and expect to have a great demand for it."

Of the $44,000 for Respite Care, Jewell said, $24,000 came from federal funds, $15,000 from the board of the Ladies Home in Jeffersonville and $5,000 from a private donor in Floyd County.

The Ladies Home, a home for elderly women, closed last year. Its board of directors sold the property, and last month it donated the proceeds to several local charities.

Anyone with questions about the programs may call the Council for the Aging at 948-8330.

An opportunity for seniors to 'go for the gold'

By MARILYN STREET YOUNG
Evening News Staff Writer

The schedule of fun-filled events has been issued for the upcoming Senior Games of Indiana festivities, scheduled for June 10-12.

The games, which are co-sponsored by the South Central Indiana Council for the Aging and Aged, Inc. and Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Indiana, are for senior citizens from both Floyd and Clark Counties.

The events on June 10 will begin with a fun walk at 10 a.m. to the opening ceremonies on Riverside Drive in Jeffersonville. The remaining schedule for the day is as follows:

Dear Patricia:

I thought you might like a copy of the Sr. Games Commission picture which was taken May 1, 1987, at the kickoff of the Older Americans month and the announcement of the Sr. Games Logo.

The Games seem to be going quite well everyplace, and we are quite pleased with the cooperation we are getting from all the Area Agencies. We are certainly enjoying it and see many positive spin-offs for Seniors.

Let me know if I can help in any way with your Sr. Games.

Sincerely,

Jamia
